Council on Problem Gambling

Treatment. Training. Awareness.

OPPORTUNITY COMING JULY 19-24

Tribal Youth Music Academy & Savage Family Guest

Do you know high school students who love music?

Do they look up to The Savage Family?

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling (ECPG) will host a six-day, five night Tribal Youth Music Academy for high school students July 19-24, 2009, at Warm Beach Camp & Conference Center, Stanwood, WA.

The Tribal Youth Music Academy is an addiction prevention event, addressing drug, alcohol, prescription drug abuse, and gambling addiction. Through the creation of their own poetry, prose, and music, teens will learn about addiction prevention and building strong, healthy lives through their creative talents. Anthony Fernandes of the Savage Family will be participating and teens will be working with award-winning program director Todd Denny and the Washington Music Mentors to create their own music, poetry, or prose that will be professionally recorded before they leave (all participants will receive CDs). Students don't need to have special musical talent; but they do need to enjoy being creative!! Teens also will be trained to become Music Mentors in their own communities.

We have found enough funding to keep the cost to just $75 per participant, including all lodging and meals for six days and five nights. The deadline for early registration is end of day Friday, July 10. Registrations will be accepted until the camp is filled, but someone must let us know by July 10 that you want to send students. We apologize for the late notice--planning began June 1.

Do you think you can put together a student team? We would love to have them join us!!

Please contact Rhonda Stone as soon as possible. She will promptly email all of the information and materials you need.
