PLATINUM PEAK SPONSOR

GOLDEN EAGLE GUARDIAN SPONSORS

SILVER SALMON SPONSORS
We are honored to have so many people come together for this 9th annual Four Directions Problem Gambling and Health Awareness Conference. As the Four Directions conference theme suggests, our goal is to Honor Our Past and Protect Our Future Through Holistic Health, Wellness, and Recovery Support.

This gathering brings together Tribal leaders, behavioral health directors and counselors, education and prevention experts, and families to support each other with knowledge on health issues, problem gambling and other addictions, and financial and safety concerns that affect all our communities. For the first time, we are offering a full Youth Track at the Four Directions Conference!

Honoring Our Past and Protecting Our Future means including our Youth in important issues that will allow them to make healthy decisions and find their voice. Young people are often the ones to be most affected by the problems that beset communities, and they can have powerful and positive effects on adults and communities when we encourage them to become involved.

Through empowering processes such as learning decision-making skills, developing confidence, critical awareness, and working with others, both youth and adults become better equipped to initiate changes in our communities. We hope this Four Directions Conference will have a lasting, positive effect on all our attendees, whatever age. May what you learn and take away illuminate and influence your work and your life. And, may you give and share to help others on their journey, as well.

Thank you for being an important part of this great Four Directions event!

The Honorable Farron McCloud
Chairman, Nisqually Indian Tribe

Cleo Frank
Nisqually Tribal Elder
The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling (ECPG) is dedicated to increasing awareness of public health issues around problem gambling and gaming, expanding the availability and integration of services, and supporting advocacy, research, and programs for education, prevention, treatment, and responsible gambling and gaming. We provide confidential support for Washington State residents through our 24-hour Problem Gambling Helpline (800.547.6133), available through phone, text, and chat.

The Council offers support for residential and outpatient treatment for problem gamblers and family members, as well as education and public awareness programs to a wide variety of community and professional groups through presentations, including qualified training for certification and continuing education hours. The Council supports Recovery Community services, including peer/coach trainings. ECPG works with the Gaming Industry to provide employee training and responsible gaming policy and program development, and offers a Responsible Gaming Certification program.

The Evergreen Council on Problem Gambling is pleased to work with schools, civic and social service organizations, and others to develop and tailor education and awareness programs. For more information call 360.352.6133 or visit www.evergreencpg.org.
Nisqually Indian Tribe and Nisqually Behavioral Health

The Nisqually people have lived in the Nisqually River Watershed region for thousands of years. As a fishing people, the Nisqually are prime stewards of the Nisqually River fisheries resources, and the salmon have been not only the mainstream of their diet, but a foundation of their culture as well. The Nisqually Tribe has built a national reputation for environmental stewardship programs that protect and enhance the natural environment. Programs that protect and enhance the wellness and cultural traditions of the Nisqually people are also strong. The Nisqually Behavioral Health staff support community members in developing self-esteem, self-respect, and family harmony. Behavioral and mental health programs, chemical dependency, and problem gambling services are enhanced throughout the year with engagement in community and cultural activities that support health and wellness for elders, youth, and more, such as Canoe Journey, Huckleberry Camp, and this Four Directions conference.
COMMUNITY CELEBRATION EVENT

Tuesday, October 31, from 5:30 - 7:30 pm

Community connects us, supports us, and is essential to our well being. As we come together at Four Directions, we share the rich resources of wisdom and experience as we work with and learn from each other. It is also important to take time to share laughter, break bread, and celebrate.

This year’s Community Event celebrates the rich heritage of our past, the successes and challenges of our present, and the hopes and dreams for our future. What better way to do this than to honor the wisdom of our elders and honor the life work of Billy Frank, Jr. – whose incredible passion and leadership was a shining example of how to leave the world a better place by our actions and efforts. Then, hear the voices of our youth – voices that are empowered and engaged and can share what these youth have learned and how they hope to give back.

This special event; this beautiful meal; this wonderful celebration is a chance to share as a community, enjoy traditional and contemporary music, dance, and performance art.

Please feel welcome to bring your drums, flutes, or other instruments to join in this Community Celebration.

In every community, there is work to be done. In every nation, there are wounds to heal. In every heart, there is the power to do it.

Marianne Williamson
HONORING BILLY FRANK, JR.

Billy Frank, Jr. was a Nisqually Tribal member and an environmental leader. Through his wisdom, guidance, and unflinching determination, Billy Frank, Jr. promoted cooperative management of natural resources, particularly on the Nisqually River, and he had an intense dedication to the treaty fishing rights cause. He held the position of Chairman of the Northwest Indian Fisheries Commission for more than 30 years.

In November 2015, President Barack Obama announced that Frank would receive a posthumous Presidential Medal of Freedom. The following month, the Nisqually National Wildlife Refuge was renamed in Billy Frank, Jr.’s honor. Please join us at the Community Celebration Event on Tuesday, October 31, honoring Billy Frank, Jr.

Join in a Special Talking Circle Event

Wednesday, November 1, from 2:45 - 4:30 pm in the Chehalis Ballroom

Sincangu Lakota Elder Gayl Edmunds, LAC will facilitate this session about the healing tradition of the Talking Circle and how it can be used as a powerful treatment tool.

It is a safe place where all present have the opportunity to speak and share without interruption or judgment. Participants may choose to remain quiet and go within, and can still gain much by being truly present.
FOUR DIRECTIONS
Pre-Conference Workshop Schedule

Sunday, October 29

8 am - Noon; 1 - 5 pm
CHEHALIS SALON E
Introductory Training in Problem and Disordered Gambling (Day 1 of 4-day Session)
Colin Hodgen, PhD, LADC-S, CPGC-S, ICGC-II and Denise Quirk, MA, MFT, LCADC, BACC, ICGC-II, CPGC-S

This four-day workshop serves as an introduction to early intervention and treatment of problem and pathological gambling disorders. Participants will learn about the scope and prevalence of gambling and problem gambling on a national scale. The DSM-5 criteria for pathological gambling will be discussed, and participants will learn practical application of the most commonly used screening and diagnostic tools. Participants will learn about the disorders that most often co-occur with problem gambling, and the effects of the disorder on family and loved ones. Introductory Training includes specifics of Gambling Disorder programs in Washington, counselor certification procedures, and an overview of topic areas covered on the National Counselor Certification Exam.

1 - 5 pm
CHEHALIS SALON F
Rebuilding a Strong Family Foundation for Recovering Families
Mitch Factor

Mental health and addictions issues affect not only the individual, but families and communities as well. Families who are affected by negative consequences of a loved one's addiction often struggle to understand why these “bad things” are happening to them. In recovery, a family seeks to better understand how to support one another and how to regain a sense of stability — and a foundation upon which to rebuild healthy relationships.

1 - 5 pm
CHEHALIS SALON D
ACT and Mindfulness - Tools to Help Problem Gamblers
Wiley Harwell, D.Min, LPC, NCGC-II

This session will cover the Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (ACT) model of Pathology and the six core processes of ACT, as well as how to apply ACT principles with problem gamblers. Participants will also learn about the meaning of Mindfulness, including the core concepts and practices, and Mindfulness as a process of developing the observer self.
Monday, October 30

8 am - Noon; 1 - 5 pm

Introductory Training in Problem and Disordered Gambling (Day 2 of 4-day Session)

Colin Hodgen, PhD, LADC-S, CPGC-S, ICGC-II and Denise Quirk, MA, MFT, LCADC, BACC, ICBC-II, CPGC-S

8 am - Noon; 1 - 5 pm
CHEHALIS SALON F

Financial Realities and Therapeutic Strategies for Gambling Treatment

Marc Lefkowitz, CCGC-I, NCGC-I

This full-day session will provide clinically proven, therapeutic tools that support positive changes in the financial behavior of gambling treatment clients. This workshop will examine the impact of money on clients’ values, self-concept, and sense of safety; explore common resistance experienced by counselors when addressing financial issues; and provide an overview of the role and meaning of money in contemporary culture. The workshop includes facilitated learning exercises and open discussion of all topics. Participants will receive training materials and exercises for use in personal development, individual clinical sessions, and group settings.

8 am - Noon; 1 - 5 pm
NW TERRITORY SALON C

Devil’s Club Healing from Our Forests: Traditional Foods, Teas, and Salves

Janell Blacketer and Grace Ann Byrd

This presentation will help participants to understand the history of plant medicine in traditional culture as well as its applicability to our modern life, and teach students to identify, harvest, and prepare some prominent local plant medicines, including Devil’s Club. By the end of the presentation, each student will know how to make a tea bar and healing salve that they can share with their community. This knowledge of our ancestors empowers us to take responsibility for our own wellness and the wellness of our community by reminding us of the healing power of the natural world that has nourished our bodies, our hearts, and our spirits.

8 am - 5 pm
CHEHALIS BALLROOM ABC

Community Health and Wellness Fair
Monday, October 30 (continued)

8 am - Noon  CHEHALIS SALON D
Ceremonial and Medicinal Uses of Tobacco: Using Traditional Healing in Tobacco Reduction and Cessation  Gayl Edmunds, LAC and Alfred Gibson
This session will provide participants with a historical perspective of tobacco usage for ceremonial and medicinal purposes. Presenters will compare and contrast medicinal/ceremonial use versus smoking reduction and/or cessation. Tobacco products from early beginnings to present use will be discussed. The workshop will be interactive, with audience input and experiences encouraged.

1 - 5 pm  CHEHALIS SALON D
Learning to Tell Your Story Through Art: Developing Your Narrative Skills Through Drawing  Roger Fernandes, MA
This presentation will share art and drawings as means for sharing story, expressing emotion, and teaching and learning. The participants will learn basic drawing and illustration techniques to translate their personal stories into visual expressions.

Escaping the Web of Video Game Addiction, Bullying, and Rejection

Cam Adair

Rejection is something we’ve all experienced before. In this session, Cam Adair shares his personal journey overcoming a video game addiction of ten years. A talented hockey player, Cam’s life took a dramatic turn at the age of 11 when he began to experience intense bullying that led him to drop out of high school. Soon, he found himself recoiling from the world, depressed and fantasizing about suicide. Then, something surprising happened that changed the way Cam saw rejection forever. This turning point allowed him to change his life around and become a successful entrepreneur. Now a public speaker, he travels around the country sharing his message about overcoming the heartbreaking pain of rejection and using it as fuel for growth, connection, and purpose. He shares key insights he’s learned along the way on the power of our habits, including strategies to thrive in a world dominated by technology. The audience will be invited to participate by asking relevant questions and sharing experiences.

Recovery Community
Celebrating successes and sharing recovery stories is an important way for the recovery community to help broaden awareness and educate others about addiction, treatment, and the journey that is recovery. The courage to share these stories is, we hope, matched by the positive impact they make on all of us who work in the fields of problem gambling treatment, prevention, training, and support.

Introduction to Gambling and Co-occurring Disorders - Screening Tools and Assessment

Brad Galvin, MS, CDP, LMHC, NCGC-I, Jim Leingang, BA, CDP, TTS, WSCGC-II, and Ricki Peone, NCGC-II, BACC

Have you ever wondered where to start when a new client enters your services? Which screening tools to use? Which issues to treat first? Depression? Lack of housing? Opiate addiction? Excessive gambling losses? It can feel overwhelming, even for seasoned behavioral health professionals. Through examining a complex case study within the context of three different behavioral health settings, we hope to demystify the challenging process of prioritizing client needs. Using a “no wrong door to the right services” approach, we will examine how providers within a tribal mental health clinic, community chemical dependency agency, and private practice setting would support our sample client - which services we would provide directly and which we would refer to other professionals. Participants will be encouraged to share their experience and insight in this interactive session.

Supporting Long-Term Health: Recovery Cafés and Community Care Centers

Anne Artman, Barbara Gerrior, MSW, and TJ Larocque

Long-term recovery is a reality for millions of individuals who have attained degrees of health and wellness, are leading productive lives, and making valuable contributions to society. There are many paths to recovery. People will choose their pathway based on their cultural values, their socioeconomic status, their psychological and behavioral needs, and the nature of their addictive disorder. Recovery support programs and organizations are a key part of the system of continuing care in the United States, including in schools, health care systems, housing, and community settings. According to the National Institute of Health, those in recovery from addictions need a foundation of at least two years free from their addiction to ensure long-term recovery. Recovery Cafés and Community Care Centers provide this crucial support to women and men who want to rebuild their lives and break the cycle of addiction, homelessness, and other mental health challenges by focusing holistically on a person’s needs, and empowering them to build a life that realizes their full potential. This person-centered system of care supports a person as she or he establishes a healthy life and recognizes that we all need a meaningful sense of membership and belonging in community.

Community Health Track

Cam Adair and Hilarie Cash, PhD, LMHC

What is it that youth need in order to grow into healthy adults? In this presentation we will look specifically at the influence of digital technology on our youth. We will together consider how this generation's relationship to technology can influence social, sexual, intellectual, mental health, and physical development. There are both positive and negative aspects to this influence. The audience will be invited to participate by asking relevant questions and sharing experiences. Included will be recommendations for ways to help youth achieve a sustainable, healthy relationship to digital media, and resources to find help.

Native Americans and Gambling - Stigma and Stereotypes in Indian Country
Community & Culture Track

Ted Hartwell, MA and Sydney Smith, LPC, LADC, NCGC-II

Many Native American tribes have a rich traditional history of gambling games. While this type of gambling has been used most often for social or ceremonial occasions, there are some accounts from the past of entire communities losing their possessions during gambling activities. With the introduction of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act in 1988, tribal communities gained the opportunity to reap substantial economic benefit from developing gaming enterprises. But these benefits are not without potential consequences. This session offers a brief history of gambling in Native American culture. Review the stigma and stereotyping that often accompanies the idea of investing in commercial gaming enterprises, can stifle conversations around problem gambling, and sometimes prevents those most impacted by it from seeking help. Ideas for positive engagement will be discussed.

Talking Circle Traditions for Treatment Providers
Gayl Edmunds, LAC

Talking circles, peacemaking circles, or healing circles are deeply rooted in the traditional practices of indigenous peoples. The Talking Circle fosters respectful listening and reflection. Gayl Edmunds, Sincangu Lakota Elder, will explain the healing tradition of the Talking Circle and how it can be used as a powerful tool for treatment to create a safe, non-judgmental, place to engage in a sharing of authentic personal reactions and feelings that are owned by each individual and acknowledged by others. Attendees are welcome to participate or observe.

Cam Adair is the founder of Game Quitters, the world’s largest support community for problematic gaming and technology use serving 50,000 members each month in 82 countries. A pioneer in the field, Cam’s work has been featured in two TEDx talks, and in Forbes, BBC, ABC News, Vice, CBC, CTV, The Star, The Huffington Post, SiriusXM, and TV Asia, amongst many others. He is an internationally recognized speaker, host of the Game Quitters podcast, and has received over one million views on YouTube. Born in Canada, he currently lives in California.

Anne Artman developed a nonprofit with a grassroots approach to recovery, combined with the strong philosophy that clients should be treated with respect. This respect strengthens their belief in self; empowers and encourages the client in a supportive family environment. Anne has worked eleven years with individuals with a variety of substance abuse, social concerns, limited education and support systems. The experience, including her education in Psychology and Master’s in Addiction Counseling has provided a strong, clear understanding of peer support, motivational interviewing, and person-centered approach. Anne is the Executive Director of the Tacoma Recovery Café. She is a member of the Washington Recovery Alliance and a true advocate for recovery.

Janell Blacketer is a Nisqually/Yakama Native American. Most of her adult life she spent wandering the streets finding emptiness in everyone and everything. Janell took nothing seriously. Even after having her son, she struggled and still could not manage to put her needs aside. After hitting rock bottom, she decided to put herself first to make herself better for her son. She was able turn her life around and has not looked back since, except to remind herself where she came from. She now works as the Tribal Master Gardener and is taking classes to become the Tribe’s herbalist. She has found a new way of living chemical-free, and enjoys sharing this knowledge with her people to help advance their knowledge that the land and plants heal as well as reiterate our traditions as Natives.

Anthony Fernandes, MA, an enrolled member of the Lower Elwha Klallam Tribe, is the creator of the innovative youth empowerment program Legends and Lyrics. Anthony’s combined experience as an Indigenous activist, hip-hop artist, and his Master’s degree in Indigenous Governance afford him a unique perspective into empowerment of Indigenous youth. His methodology has most recently been showcased on the Viceland’s RISE documentary series featuring stories of Indigenous Resistance. From his thought-provoking hip hop lyrics to his concise critique of colonialism, Anthony peels back the veneer of the status quo. In doing so, he challenges Indigenous peoples to comprehend the root of the challenges they face, and draw upon traditional Indigenous principles to address the effects of colonization, and empower Indigenous youth to make healthy, lasting change in their communities.

Roger Fernandes, MA is a Native American artist, storyteller, and educator who has worked in the field of American Indian education for over 40 years. He is a member of the Lower Elwha Klallam tribe and has a Master’s degree in Whole Systems Design from Antioch University. He was born and raised in the city of Seattle and has worked in the local urban Native community in a variety of jobs and roles. As an artist, he has done a variety of public and commissioned pieces that share the culture of the local tribal cultures. As a storyteller, he shares the wisdom and knowledge held in the traditional myths and legends of his people and other tribes across the region. With his degree in systems change, he seeks to use both art and storytelling as primary communication styles to help people identify and create new models for community transformation.
