Get Started with Twitter Chat Tuesday:

If you're not familiar with Twitter chats, the basic idea is to claim a hashtag – in this case #PGAMChat - and encourage people to discuss this topic on Twitter.

With a wealth of information flowing at once, and multiple conversations taking place, tweet chats can seem chaotic and difficult to follow.

But by following some recommended steps, experts and participants can reply, interact and engage with the subject and others to make the most of the Twitter chat.

Seven steps to participating in a Twitter Chat Tuesday

1. All tweets should contain the Twitter chat hashtag being used #PGAMChat and the NCP hashtag #PGAM2023. This enables them to be linked to the larger conversations taking place.
2. The ECPG Twitter account @EvergreenCPG will post introductions and then questions on topic beginning at 11 AM PST. Example:

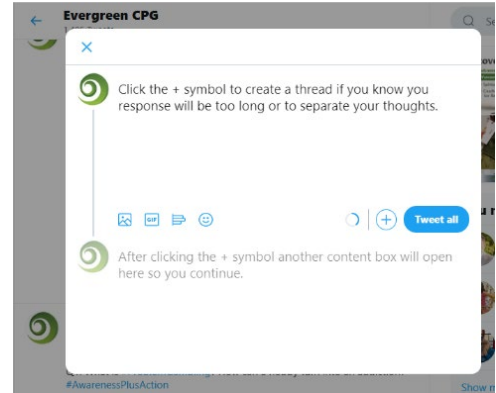

3. "Reply" directly to the topic question you would like to respond to by clicking the chat bubble beneath the Tweet (see Twitter Tools above).

This will keep your response in line with the question and make it easier for everyone else to follow the conversation.

4. If your answer is too long for a single tweet, you can thread your response by clicking the + symbol on the Tweet creation screen.

5. When the Twitter chat starts, keep an eye on both the official moderator (@EvergreenCPG) for the topic questions and the hashtag #PGAMChat. It's recommended to keep both tabs open throughout the entirety of the chat.
6. While monitoring the #PGAMChat feed and your notifications tab, you may come across questions from outside participants. If you wish to answer their question, simply hit "reply" and enter your answer into the text box. Make sure to continue to include the hashtag #PGAMChat and #PGAM2023.
7. People are tuning into the Twitter chat to hear from you – relax, feel comfortable sharing resources, and be yourself.
